D. F. DIXON representing the Ogilvie Milling Co., was in town this week, and after viewing the crops in the district, declares that they are unexcelled anywhere. He attributes the wheat of this district being softer than that of Manitoba, to the superior richness of the soil which causes a rank growth of straw and a big grain, while the straw of the plains is shorter and the grain more dried up and consequently harder grain will be produced there.

SIXTY-ONE settlers came up from Calgary on Monday's train of which all were from the United States with one exception. Twenty-three came from Nebraska, twenty-three from Minnesota, six from Dakota, four from Kansas, two from Iowa, two from Washington and one from Ontario. It was responded to in appropriate and feeling terms by the reverend gentleman. Speeches of best wishes and good will followed, to which Mr. Munroe replied in an interesting address.

MAYOR McCauley has received a letter from R. C. Selwyn C. M. G. sending a result of the examination of a specimen of the stone that he got from a scow load that had been brought from up the river whilst he was here. The report says: "Although it contains a considerable percentage of carbonate of lime, it would certainly not make cement. It would probably make good building stone, if on further opening the quarry, blocks free from joints and of sufficient size can be obtained." He does not recommend its use in situations of wet and dry conditions.

F. CHARBONNEAU, travelling editor of La Presse, Montreal, returned from visiting Egg Lake and Fort Saskatchewan on Monday, and left for the south on Tuesday regretting that he had not time to stay a little longer and see the fall exhibition at South Edmonton. Mr. Charbonneau remained here a week visiting the country sections in this vicinity to acquire a knowledge of the general feelings of the people relative to political questions, school matters and Northwest affairs. He was particularly impressed with the fertility of the district which he remarked was undoubtedly the finest section of country west of Lake Superior. As a proof of his appreciation, he reserved a C. P. R. section for purchase on his return to Montreal. He was much imbued with the progressive spirit of the citizens of the town and remarked that he had everything here that was to be found in a large city with the exception of the electric railway. He will visit Banff, MacLeod, and points on the main line before returning to Montreal.

A wedding of interest to the people of Edmonton and vicinity is recorded in the last issue of the Hamilton Times which says: One of the prettiest weddings of the year occurred at All Saints' church this afternoon, when Miss Jessie Hendrie Walker, second daughter of Mr. James Walker, of this city, became the wife of Mr. George Wildman Ritchie Almon, of Edmonton, N. W. T., son of Hon. W. J. Almon, M. D., of Halifax, N. S. The harvest decorations of the church made an excellent background for the gay attire of the bridal party. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Forener, rector of All Saints'. There were five bridesmaids, Miss Hendrie, Miss Bessie Walker, Miss Alice Walker, Miss Euid Hendrie and Miss Margery Braithwaite, the two last being cousins of the bride. The groomsmen were Mr. William Pierce Walker, of Philadelphia, and the ushers were Messrs. Wm. Hendrie, jun., Campbell Walker and John Leggat. The bride's wedding gown was of Irish poplin, with trimming of Duchess point, and she carried a magnificent bouquet of white roses. Of the bridesmaids, Miss Hendrie's gown was of pink crepe; Miss Bessie Walker's of yellow crepe; Miss Alice Walker's of pale blue crepe, and the little girls were dressed in white. All five carried large rainbow bouquets of pink, crimson and yellow dahlias. The bride's travelling costume was a tailor-made gown of sailor blue ladies' tailor-made gown with black, and a large cloth, braided hat with plumes. After the ceremony the guests returned to the residence of the bride's parents, No. 130 Hunt street west, where a reception was held. The newly-married couple left on the 6.40 train for the east and will be here again next week for a few days before going to their home in Edmonton. The presents received by the young couple numbered over 300, and included much that was elegant, as well as costly.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, OCTOBER 4TH, 1894.
SOUTH EDMONTON FALL EXHIBITION.

The first exhibition of the South Edmonton agricultural society was held yesterday, and proved to be an undoubted success both in point of exhibits and attendance. Entries kept pouring in from early morning until noon so that the judges were not able to begin their work until after dinner. The exhibit of live stock was exceptionally good, especially the show of sheep and pigs which proved that the district was especially adapted to the raising of these animals.

In the main hall were some excellent exhibits of grain in the straw, shown by R. McKernan which took first prize in their class. Among these were specimens of the Pringle champion, Colorado, Great Western, Black sea and Aryma. Russian varieties among the bearded wheat and Golden drop, Wellman's Fyfe, Australian, White Russian, Edmonton Fyfe, Lupin, White and Red Fyfe among the non-bearded varieties. Among oats, he showed a collection among which were the black Tartarian, the Winter grey, the improved Legawo, Rennie's white, Victoria prize, Scottish chief, Columbia, Golden beauty, White Russian and other varieties and in barley he had eleven specimens of which the best was the Edmonton two rowed.

The samples of grain shown were of excellent quality and gave the judges much trouble in deciding. The prizes were awarded as follows: Red Fyfe wheat, 1st T. Jackson, 2nd M. McLeod; White Fyfe wheat, 1st R. McKernan. The prize for any other variety was awarded to R. McKernan for a half bushel of "Australian" wheat. Among peas, the first prize fell to G. Gould and the second to D. Grummett. There was only one exhibit of flax which was of good sample and took the prize. It was grown by G. Gould. In oats several varieties were shown, the prizes being awarded as follows: Black oats, 1st W. Carscadden of Clover Bar; 2nd R. McKernan. In barley, R. McKernan took the prizes both for the six rowed and Chevalier barley. As before stated, R. McKernan took first prize for the best collection of grain in the straw, W. Stephens taking 2nd.

The exhibits of roots was much better than is usually seen at fall shows. The number shown were very large and apparently of good quality. The exhibit too, was made more interesting by there being several varieties shown. The prizes were awarded as follows: Potatoes, Early Rose, 1st J. J. Elliott, 2nd J. Inkster. Beauty of Hebron, 1st R. Featherstone, 2nd R. Ritchie. Morning Star, R. Featherstone. The prizes for any other variety were awarded to D. M. Hawkins, 1st, and J. W. Wade 2nd. For the best collection of potatoes, T. Henderson of Rabbit Hills was awarded the prize. Among this collection were specimens of the morning star, Ladies' finger, Burpes extra, Rural New Yorker and Beauty of Onondaga.

There were not many turnips on exhibition; but what they lacked in quantity was made up in quality. Some of the largest measured nearly 3 feet in circumference. The prizes for Swede turnips were taken by 1st J. Elliott, 2nd D. M. Hawkins. The prizes for any other variety were awarded to 1st R. McKernan, 2nd D. M. Hawkins.

The wangel wurtzels shown were well shaped, measuring over two feet in length with a proportionate circumference. The prize winners were 1st D. M. Hawkins, 2nd W. H. Stephens.

In carrots, very few were shown. The prize winners were for Field carrots, 1st D. M. Hawkins, 2nd J. Elliott, for Early Horn carrots, 1st W. H. Stephens, 2nd J. Elliott. The prize for any other variety would have undoubtedly gone to T. Henderson who had the best carrots on exhibition; but being improperly classed the prizes went to 1st J. McKenzie, 2nd W. H. Stephens.

No long red beets were shown. A few of the turnip rooted variety were all on exhibition. The prizes went to 1st J. Elliott, 2nd W. H. Stephens. The show of parsnips was fully up to the average, the prizes being awarded to 1st T. Stewart, 2nd J. McKenzie.

The cabbage shown were very large indeed and the competition in this line was keen. The 1st prize went to J. Inkster, 2nd J. Elliott. Red Dutch cabbage, 1st J. Walker, 2nd J. Elliott. No cauliflower or celery were shown.

In onions three varieties were competed for. D. M. Hawkins took 1st prize for red white and yellow onions. J. Walters, taking 2nd prize for the latter variety. In potato onions, the prizes were awarded to 1st T. Stewart, 2nd R. McKernan. The prize for Dutch set onions was awarded to R. Featherstone.

POULTRY.

HORSES.

General Purpose team, 1st G. Gould, 2nd L. Fulton.
Some seven varieties of corn were shown, fully ripened. There were sweet corn, yellow corn, purple corn and corn of mixed variety. The prizes went to those of purest color, they being 1st P. Clarke, 2nd T. Henderson.

The show of pumpkins was larger than is usually seen at fall shows in this country, some weighing probably 30 lbs. The prizes went to, 1st J. J. McKenzie, 2nd W. McCully.
Although the crop of tomatoes has been much better this year than former years, Mr. Henderson was the only exhibitor and took the prize.
The citrons were probably the best ever exhibited in this district. Some of them measured over two feet in circumference and were shaped perfectly. T. Stewart took 1st prize, T. Henderson 2nd. The squashes shown were not large; but were of good quality. T. Stewart took the 1st prize and T. Henderson 2nd.

The prize for cucumbers went to Mrs. A. McLean; but there was no competition and the samples were small considering the excellent samples that have been retailing in the district from early in the season.
Two large vegetable marrow were shown and were deserving of a prize; but there was no prize listed for them to take. The last exhibit in this class were two samples of rhubarb which it was difficult to choose between. J. Shields took 1st and R. Featherstone 2nd.

The dairy department was well represented, there being a keen competition for the various prizes in butter. In this department the prizes were awarded as follows: Roll butter, 1st prize T. Henderson, 2nd prize R. McKernan; packed butter, not less than 20 lbs. 1st R. McKernan, 2nd H. Lendrum. Butter in pails, R. McKernan 1st. Crock butter, ten pounds, 1st T. Henderson, 2nd H. Lendrum. Cheese: home made, J. Wade 1st. There was no competition in cheese. In this class was enumerated the home cookery, and a very creditable display there was too. It would be a hard matter to say whose bread and buns were the best from looking at them; but the judges decided as follows. Two loaves of bread from native flour, 1st W. McCully, 2nd P. Clarke. Two loaves of bread from imported flour, 1st Mrs. Essery, 2nd Mrs. Gainer. Two loaves of currant bread, 1st P. Ottewill, 2nd R. Featherstone. One dozen buns from native flour, 1st T. H. Stewart, 2nd W. McCully. One dozen buns from imported flour, 1st W. Lockhart, 2nd P. Ottewill.

The competition in native fruits and preserves showed up well, and though there were not prizes given for all that was shown it is a credit to the housewives of the district for us to be able to enumerate the various kinds of preserves that it is within their power to make. We noticed preserves made from raspberries, strawberries, sakatoon berries, cranberries, black currants, citrons, rhubarb, tomatoes and pumpkins, and jellies made from the high and low bush cranberries, raspberries, etc. The prizes were awarded as follows: Raspberry preserves, 1st W. McCully, 2nd Mrs. Mallette. Strawberries, 1st T. Henderson, 2nd Mrs. F. Sache. Blueberry, 1st J. Gainer, 2nd Mrs. Wade. Any other variety, 1st W. McCully, 2nd Mrs. Sache. Half pint of pickles, mixed, 1st Mr. A. McLean. Half pint pickles, any variety, 1st W. McCully, 2nd Mrs. Sache. Pickles, any kind, 1st R. Featherstone, 2nd F. Sache.

The exhibit in ladies' work was just what might be expected, very good indeed. The quilts were magnificent, and some work that had come from India was resplendent with gold tinsel work and gaudy colors. Some of the Henderson cushions were very pretty in design and workmanship, and the tea cosies, smoking caps, crocheted work and wall guards all showed the neatest handiwork. Besides these, there were home made mitts, socks, etc. Several paintings were on exhibition; but only two prizes were awarded. The school children also had an exhibit. The prize list of ladies' work was not made out last night. It will appear in next issue.

Outside of the hall was an exhibition of live stock, poultry etc., in which there were a good number of entries. The prizes were as follows:

DR. WILSON AND THE ARBITRATION.

The communication published in your last issue, from Dr. Wilson, being a personal attack upon myself, I desire to point out to the public how grossly unfair it is, how shamefully false are its contents, and how unworthy it is of a man professing to hold and desiring yet to attain a position in public affairs. In answering this personal attack I feel, in a measure, unjustified, because I believe a contemptuous silence would be the most fitting rebuke.

His first trouble seems to be that I published a criticism of his award. If it were true that Dr. Wilson did not know whether it was I that published my dissenting judgment or not; and if he did not know whether it was a criticism or a dissenting judgment, I could partially excuse him; but hear the facts: Dr. Wilson knew before he signed the award that I would write a dissenting judgment (not a criticism) and he asked for a copy, which was delivered to the third arbitrator for him; and he also knew that I did not publish such dissenting judgment, but that the Town of Edmonton published the same after it was served upon them with the award. Can any sensible man doubt but that I had a right to write such dissenting judgment? How could I express my dissenting views in his award in which I did not agree? The question is too foolish for comment. Can it be supposed that Dr. Wilson does not know that in every court the judge who does not agree in the judgment of the majority always gives his written reasons for dissenting? and was I not then following exactly the procedure of these higher tribunals? If then Dr. Wilson knew that I wrote not a criticism, but gave only my written reasons for dissenting—and he knew it; and if he knew that the town published those written reasons and I had nothing to do with such—and he knew this full well; and if he knew that I was justified in giving reasons for dissenting, seeing that I could not sign the award—and he knew this also, (for no man would understand the opposite), then his communication of last issue is a gross mis-statement of facts, and a most unwarranted attack upon a brother arbitrator. Compare Dr. Wilson's conduct with judges on the bench and imagine the judge who having carried the majority of the court in giving judgment, turning around and in the public press making a violent, scurrilous attack (such as Dr. Wilson's letter was) upon the brother judge who happened to dissent. What a shameful, unkind and discourteous affair it would be. Yet Dr. Wilson, desiring I suppose, to get some "straw" excuse to write a letter upon, chose to base the whole fabric upon the falsehood outlined above.

I have read over his communication many times hoping to gather his reasons for writing it. You would naturally suppose that he would prove to the public how he reached the award of $325 damages, when not one witness named any such sum, either directly or indirectly, either in giving evidence for McDougall or for the town, but the doctor very carefully and very wisely passes over that feature; it apparently was not one of his strong points. You would naturally expect that he would quote the evidence, or at least refer to it, showing how the weight of evidence was to the effect that McDougall was damaged and not benefited, but he does not, this therefore could not be an important feature in his opinion, at least he considered, we suppose, that it was not discreet to remind the public of the fact. You might again expect that he would show the public that the town witnesses being about the best and most responsible men we have, being: Matthew McCauley, John A. McDougall, George R. F. Kirkpatrick, Joseph Picard, A. D. Osborne, Jas. Gibbe, Thomas Bellamy, John Kelly, C. Gallagher, W. S. Robertson, Donald Ross and T. W. Chalmers did not swear that McDougall should not receive any compensation and that McDougall was not benefited to the extent of at least $500, when as a matter of fact they were unanimous in saying that McDougall should not receive any compensation. Oh, no, he forgot to mention all this and forgot also to mention that three of McDougall's witnesses most emphatically proved, also, that McDougall received more benefit by reason of the street than he suffered damage. He forgot also to refer to the letters of McDougall and P. Heiminek & Co., offering the street free, though damages are now claimed. It was discreet for the learned doctor to do all this, he imagined that the public had forgotten all about these details of evidence and he contented himself with saying:—I bet you, S. S. Taylor, the costs of the arbitration that I was right in giving my award as I did: I can offer no reason just now except to abuse you and the town witnesses. This is extraordinary argument, extraordinary court-ney, an exhibition of wonderful talent, is it not? This is a sample of the reasoning I suppose, upon which he based his award.

I desire that the public again do run over my dissenting judgment as published a few weeks ago, and I challenge any man to point out any personal attack upon either arbitrator; I simply review the evidence quoting it as I go along and pointing out my reasons for dissenting upon the evidence. I find no fault with my fellow arbitrators, simply stating that I could not agree with them. Turn next to Dr. Wilson's letter, and I ask you all, fairly, is it not a low attempt to injure me without the slightest reason? If I had disregarded my oath and given judgment against my convictions in order to agree with Dr. Wilson, then he would not have had a word to say, but because I gave reasons that he cannot and dare not review or question, for dissenting, he attempts to abuse me in the most discourteous manner possible. Mark his grounds:—he admits that the great majority of witnesses were with my view. Is this not a justification? If I have 12 witnesses for the town, three witnesses for the defence and McDougall's and Heiminek's letters with me, is this not a justification for dissenting? Yet the doctor accepts the minority evidence, with everyone of his witnesses disagreeing with the other as to the amount of damage, none lower than $1000, and gives an award for $325, having no witnesses agreeing with that sum, and humbly tells the public over whose eyes he expects to pull the wool that he was upon his oath to give an award according to the evidence, and did so. And attempts to injure me by a lot of low bluffs because I dare to disagree with his award. If the doctor imagines for a moment that I would allow such remarks to pass unnoticed, he will find that he "woke up the wrong passenger." I am more than willing that the public should read my judgment and compare it with the doctor's reason for the award given in his last letter, and abide the verdict.

I can only find one reason for the doctor's letter, and that is that he knows full well now, if he did not when he signed the award, that his conduct demands a defence. The evidence was all printed as he states in the "BULLETIN," if then his award were in accordance with such evidence how was he wronged by a dissenting judgment, wherein he was never called to account? and why need he write a reply and try to make the most out of a bad case, in order to bolster up his unwarranted action by scandalizing his fellow arbitrator without any argument.

The doctor says I was a prejudiced arbitrator, prejudiced against D. McDougall, who as he states I at one time was acting for in a professional capacity, when as a matter of fact I was at the time of the arbitration still his solicitor. The reason is foolish, but the accusation is a grave one. It simply means that contrary to my oath I gave a dissenting judgment. I will remind again the public that he admits I had the great bulk of evidence as to numbers with me, and with that reminder simply leave his base insinuation to be treated by you as you desire.

He also says that I have with me six or seven prejudiced witnesses, in other words he says that those six or seven prejudiced witnesses "like myself," violated their solemn oath and swore to a prejudiced oath, which means simply this, a false oath. Now those men to whom he refers are the Town Councillors and the Town Treasurer, the chosen representatives of the public and are: The Mayor Matthew McCauley; Councillor John A. McDougall, Councillor Gallagher, Councillor Picard and Town Treasurer G. R. F. Kirkpatrick. Again I leave the public to judge of this most base insinuation. You know these men, and I brandish a man with the contempt of the whole town who will dare again to make such an insinuation. To be politic; nay to be cute in a manner that makes us say "too thin," the "would be" politic doctor as to those men says "I will assume a case in which 'six or seven men prejudiced like Mr. 'Taylor etc., etc.'" This manner of attack I will also leave you to pass your judgment upon.

In conclusion I can only say that the above is written in strict defence, to what I consider an unwarranted attack upon me, simply because I gave my reasons for disagreeing in the award. I again must state that I still strongly disagree with that award. And I believe the evidence is very plainly with me and had Dr. Wilson pointed out to you how that evidence was not with me, I would not have offered any objection, notwithstanding that such a proceeding on his part would have been very discourteous and entirely contrary to the practice of any tribunal, for he speaks through his award, he having signed it; and he had a right to expect the public to suppose that he honestly arrived at such award, but on the contrary he offers no reasons for his award but simply attempts to scandalize me.

To this conduct I disagree and pronounce the same simply shameful and unworthy of any man, and I appeal to every fair man to bear me out in my defence. I may say also that I think the town justified in publishing my dissenting judgment in order that the ratepayers would know upon what grounds their chosen arbitrator based his judgment. I accordingly leave the doctor with his "spleen" and you to judge the "very right" of the case. I will not like him stoop to accuse the doctor of giving an award dishonest in intention, I will only say it was one that upon a meritorious criticism would stand pointed argument.

In writing the above I do not desire in any manner to cast a reflection upon the third arbitrator; he is a gentleman for whom I have the highest respect and I know he honestly differed with me on the award.

S. S. TAYLOR.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Prince Albert Advocate, speaking of the departure of Captain Isaacson and Lieut. Hicks of the S. A. who have been transferred to Edmonton, says they will be much missed, not only by the soldiers of the army; but by the public generally.

A number of the Yukon Press contains some interesting matter on the Koukuk river country. This country was unknown until 1880 when a few prospectors started out from Tanana trading station and passed over Tozichackat summit into the valley of the Koukuk. High water hindered them from prospecting. With their provisions well exhausted they were forced to return. On the return journey the water fell and exposed several sand bars which upon being panned were found to be rich in gold. Coarse gold has since been found in considerable quantities and those who are there, some twenty miners, warn others not to go unless prepared to spend one winter without any returns.
